

Mr. Eric Schaner

Mr. Eric Schaner's active duty and reserve career spanned from 1990 to 2014 where he served eight years enlisted as an Anti-Tank Assaultman and sixteen years as an aviation and Marine Air Ground Task Force intelligence officer. Mr. Schaner also served additional assignments as a Weapons and Tactics Instructor and a China Strategic Analyst. His formal military education includes The Basic School, Naval Intelligence Officer's Basic Course, WTI course, Amphibious Warfare School, and the Naval War College Command and Staff Program.

In November 2019, Mr. Schaner assumed his current position as Information Environment Strategic Planner within the Deputy Commandant for Information (DC I). From his active duty retirement in July 2014 to his current assignment, Eric has provided Operations in the Information Environment concept and doctrine development support to both the Deputy Commandant for Combat Development and Integration and the DC I.